Camden Young Archaeologists

Invitation to Conference

The British Museum | 9.30 - 3.30 Thursday 4th October 2007

Conference Invite

Camden Young Archaeologists Project funded by The Heritage Lottery Fund

Camden Young Archaeologists is a unique and innovative programme, promoting the culture of out of school learning. It is designed to engage children who have limited access to out of school learning opportunities during the school holidays and to introduce children, their families and carers to the widest possible range of cultural organisations in the borough, through fantastic and inspiring experiences within archaeology, heritage and architecture projects.

Conference workshops

- INSET – Camden Young Archaeologists Education Resource Packs
- The challenges of running a Young Archaeologists Club
- Running projects with schools and external partners
- Sensory loan boxes

Participants will have the opportunity to attend all workshops.

This conference is for:

Educators from historic houses, heritage sites, museums, schools and academic organisations. It is important to work together to inspire archaeology, heritage and architecture projects within local communities that provide a sense of ownership and identity.

What to expect

- Take part in activities to stimulate creativity and problem solving
- The opportunity to talk to children and young people who have been involved with the project
- Present opinions, provoke discussion and offer advice on practical issues involved with partnership work (local communities, archaeology/heritage professionals and schools)

Aims

- Share advice, guidance and best practice within Education and Community Archaeology
- Facilitate lifelong free-choice learning
- Nurture creativity through education and skills
- Promote museums and heritage locations as sites for constructing identity and finding meaning
- Make new contacts, affirm old ones, and discover how much we can all benefit from partnership working and sharing our knowledge
